FREELANCE WORK AND RESIDENCE PERMIT FOR GERMANY

Three requirements are needed for the self-employment visa (freelancer).

- Permission to exercise the liberal profession (e.g. training certificate).
- Secure financing for the project.
- Secure the cost of living in Germany

Regarding ...

point 1)

Some freelance activities require proof of qualifications, such as lawyers, engineers or architects. However, the majority do not require proof of qualifications or specific licenses.

point 2)

You must secure financing for the project. If the freelance activity is a large project where office space, materials or similar are required, then the possibility of financing must be proven.

In freelance activities where no other costs are incurred by the freelancer, this requirement is therefore easily met.

point 3)

They must cover the cost of living in Germany. From 2023, this will be 12,324 euros per person per year. As a freelancer with a corresponding order volume, you can provide proof of living costs.

Freelancers

If you would like to work as a freelancer in one of the liberal professions, you are able to obtain a residence permit for self-employment in accordance with Section 21 (5) on the Residence Act - AufenthG ↗. You must fulfil the following requirements:

- You can provide proof of sufficient funds to finance your projects.
- You have obtained any licences required to perform the job in question.
- If you are older than 45 years of age, you must provide proof of adequate old age pension provisions.

What opportunities does the visa for self-employment offer?

A visa or residence permit for self-employment is initially issued for up to three years. If your business idea is successful and you are able to cover the costs of living for yourself and your family, the residence permit can be extended.
